

ECO-SOAP

100g Bar

The Eco-Soap 100g bar is an upcycled hygiene solution made from sanitized manufacturer scrap, providing reliable sanitation for institutional buyers, NGOs, and CSR programs — while empowering women in developing regions through sustainable employment.

KEY FEATURES

- Social Impact - Production hubs employ women in regions like Cambodia and Uganda, where micro-enterprise participants have seen their monthly incomes increase by up to 43%.
- Environmentally Friendly - Helps mitigate the estimated 250 million bars of soap waste discarded annually by the global soap making industry.
- Long Lasting - The substantial 100g size ensures an extended lifespan for daily handwashing and bathing in resource-scarce environments.
- Cost Efficient - Produced from repurposed manufacturer scrap, offering standard hygiene performance without the premium price tag of virgin-manufactured brands.
- Unique Design - Remilled from excess or imperfect bars from major manufacturers, actively preventing perfectly good soap from ending up in landfills.
- Durable - Designed for optimized logistics, these bars can be shipped “naked” (unwrapped) or individually wrapped to withstand complex distribution channels.
- Seamless Installation - Sold unbranded or under private-label names, avoiding channel conflict with major manufacturers and allowing seamless integration into existing reseller portfolios.

INTERNATIONAL BENEFITS

- Empowers Local Communities — Operations directly support marginalized women in hubs like Cambodia, where workers saw an average income increase of 40% during their first year of employment.
- Supports Global Hygiene — Provides a highly affordable, life-saving handwashing solution for NGOs and relief efforts operating in hard-to-reach, resource-scarce environments.
